President's Message

Dear Graduates,

Congratulations to the Class of 2008! You have now earned the Pope John XXIII High School diploma. It represents years of hard work, meeting deadlines, submitting academically superior work to teachers. You have earned the title, Graduate. Everyone here at Pope John XXIII is extremely proud to share in this happy occasion. We encourage you to savor the joy for yourself and to thank all of those who have helped you on this educational journey.

You have been a most enthusiastic class and have taught us that the exuberance of youth, coupled with the tradition of academic excellence produce an extremely worthy individual. Our hope is that you continue to learn much, laugh often, and remember to thank your God for His many blessings in your lives. He is the Source of your happiness.

Please remember to keep Pope John XXIII in your heart, complete with fond memories of a school that cared for you, disciplined you, and believed in you always. If ever we can help you in any way, please return to visit us or give us a call. Once you are a member of the Pope JohnXXIII family, you are always welcome.

We are extremely proud of your accomplishments here, and look forward to hearing of your many future endeavors. May your life be filled with health and happiness in great abundance.

Fondly,

Kathleen F. Donovan

We as a school were incredibly lucky to have such a dedicated staff that cared so deeply about its students. Teenagers are tough, therefore our teachers deserved a round of applause from every student for sticking with us day in and day out during this year!

In Fond Memory of

On Sunday, January 27, 2008, Father Daniel Kennedy, age 34, died suddenly of a heart attack. When the news reached Pope John XXIII, we were all totally baffled. Though he had only served as our chaplain for five months, he was a PJ Tiger through and through. He was in high demand in the community and committed himself to Pope John as a hockey coach in addition to being our priest, counselor, and friend. He shared his love of God with all he knew.

Despite the rigors of priesthood, Father Dan continued to do the things he loved most. He ran nine marathons and was in training for his tenth. He was an avid Red Sox fan, and he was a chaplain in the US Navy. He loved and spent time with his family and friends.

Father Daniel J. Kennedy took on so many different roles: a priest, a coach, an athelete, a friend, a son, a brother and a model member of the community. We were very lucky to have him in our lives, however briefly. We, as a school, continue to pray for him.

Father Dan Kennedy

Grant us,
Lord Jesus,
always to follow the example of Your holy family,
that at the hour of our death
Your glorious Virgin
Mother
with blessed Joseph
may come to meet us,
and so we may deserve
to be received by You into Your everlasting dwelling-place.

Amen

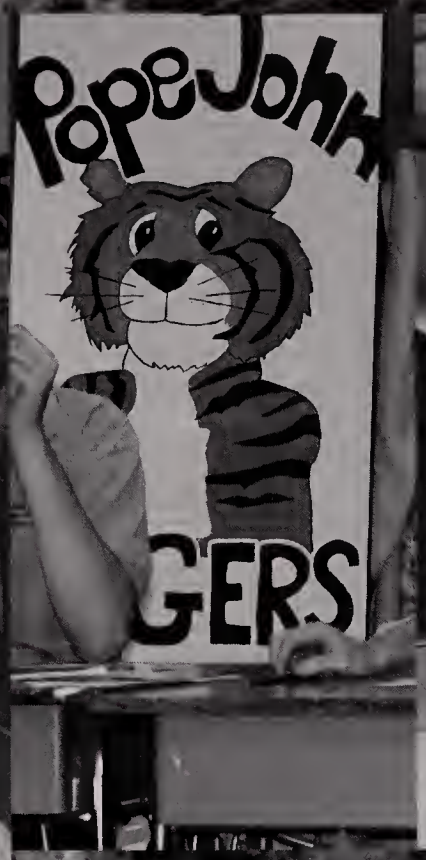
Ashlee Avery checked out her homework for Spanish 5 through Virtual High School (VHS) on the computers in the library. Virtual High School allows students to take classes online that are not offered within the school building.

Art



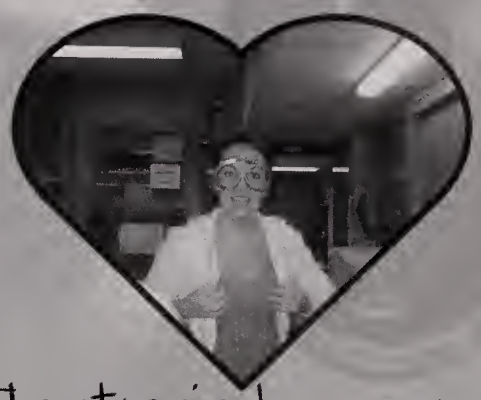
The Museum of Fine Arts, fondly known to the culturally aware as the MFA, is the hub of creativity in the Boston area. The art room has a similar function to Pope John. Art is a perfect buffer between the more difficult classes. It gave students the chance to wind down in a nonjudgemental environment and express their impressions about the world that surrounds them in a unique way.

Advanced Placement Classes

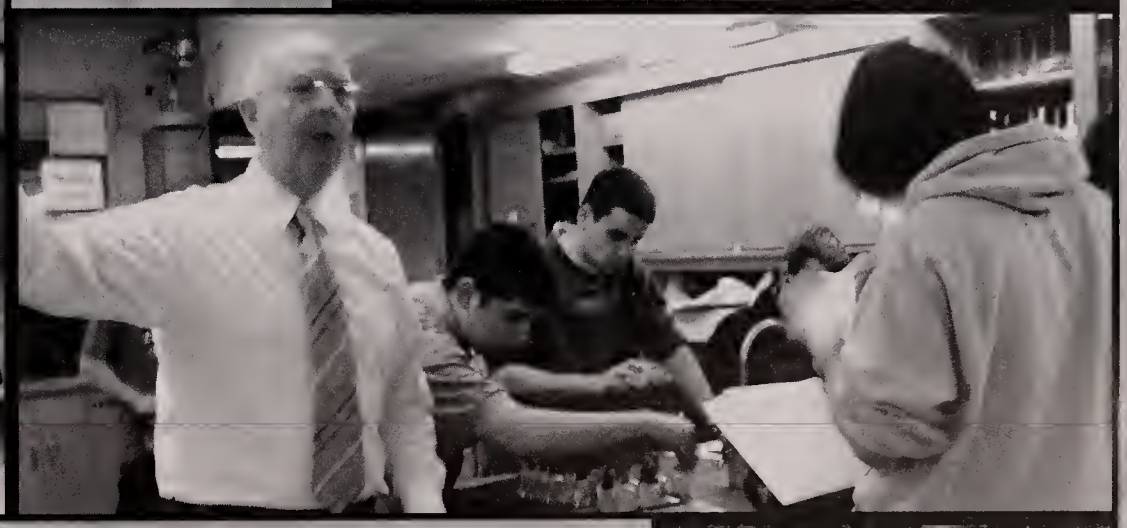
Some of the world's most brilliant minds, like Henry Adams, William Lloyd Garrison, and Phillis Wheatley, came from Boston. At Pope John, our brightest minds labored in Advanced Placement classes, which included English, Biology, Calculus, and U.S. History.

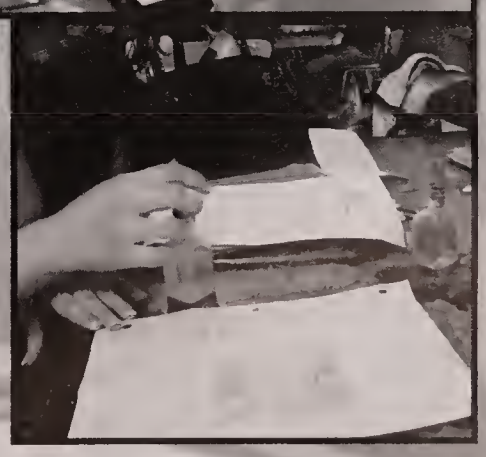
The Laboratory

In Boston, the first subway was invented.



The stunningly gorgeous Mrs. Poussard ready to rock that lab and get her some results.





Pope John students work hard in the laboratory, so we might prove and witness what is usually assumed to be true within the classroom.

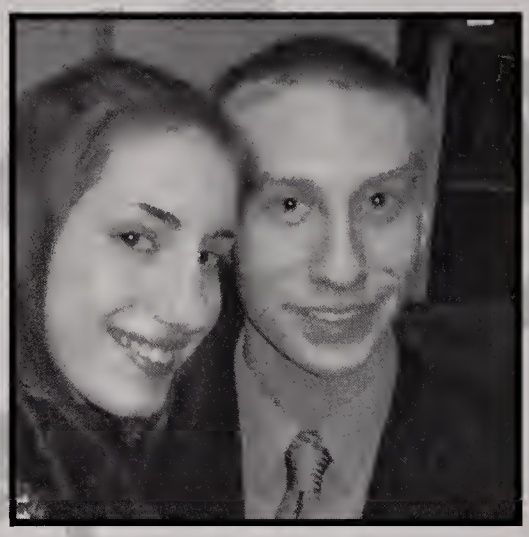
The National Honor Society

Our National Honor Society was part of a nationwide prestigeous organization that strives to give driven students the opportunity to make a difference in their school and in their community. Only Pope John's best academic achievers are admitted and they show us what can be done when great minds think together.



This year, there was an additional induction to the one held in the spring for prospective sophomores. The former Savio chapter of the National Honor Society was formally inducted to the National Honor Society Chapter of Pope John XXIII High School.

The Boston area is renowned for being a hub of education. With strong students and incredible institutions aruond, Boston will continue to grow and prosper.

The National Honor Society focuses on how they can affect the community. The various service projects they organized included: a drive for used glasses for those in need of them, soujurns to nursing homes to visit the elderly, a tutoring program within the school and a drive for used books to be donated to various places.

Diversity Club

Because no two people have the same fingerprints.

In Boston, people that are different and have peculiar talents seek to stand out of the crowd. Some perform in the street in front of Faneuil Hall for tourists and locals alike.

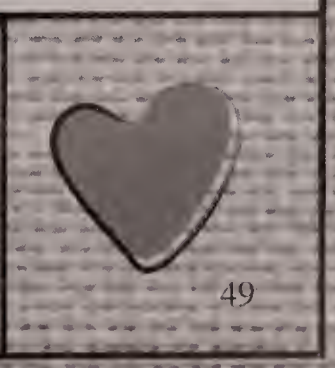
In the Diversity Club, the differences among students are celebrated. They organized a talent show to display the talents and uniqueness of others to the fullest potential.

T.A.P.

Teens Against Poverty

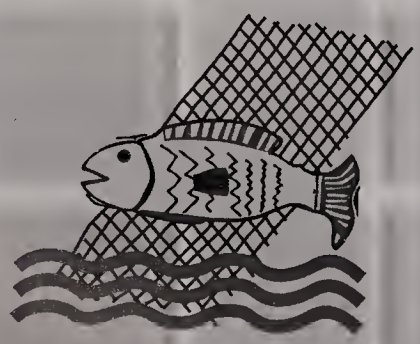
T.A.P. was a group of students motivated to do good for the world. They worked to support Bukeni in his quest to demobilize child soldiers in the Democratic Republic of Congo and reintergrate them back into society. They made great efforts to bring Bukeni to Pope John to tell his story and raised funds for him to help the cause. Their fundraisers included a "Goodbye Good Luck Barberque" and a candy bar sale in the lunchroom. They made room in their hearts to reach out to others, and for that we honor them.

AIDS was also a problem that Bukeni was trying to mitigate. In Boston, we have our own charity that fights AIDS: The AIDS Action Committee of Massachusetts.

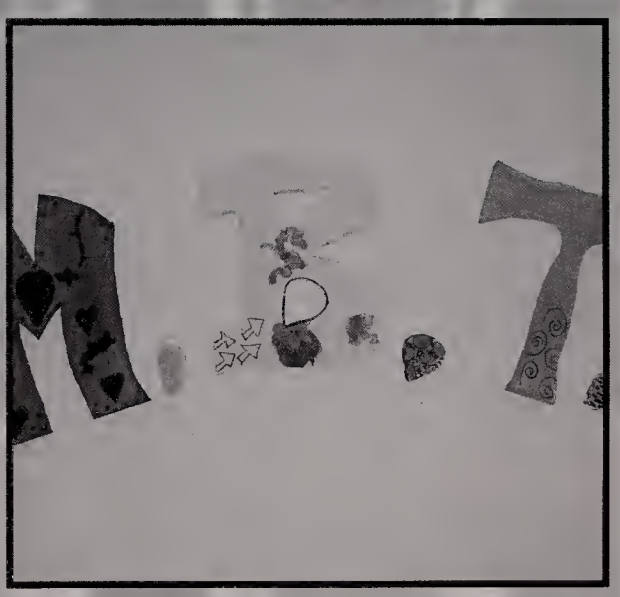


S.T.A.T.I.C.

STATIC is a Pope John organization supported by Ms. Antollini and Ms. Tremblay that mobilized students to be active in the community. Over the course of the year, they went to shelters, collected cans and gathered presents for chilren.



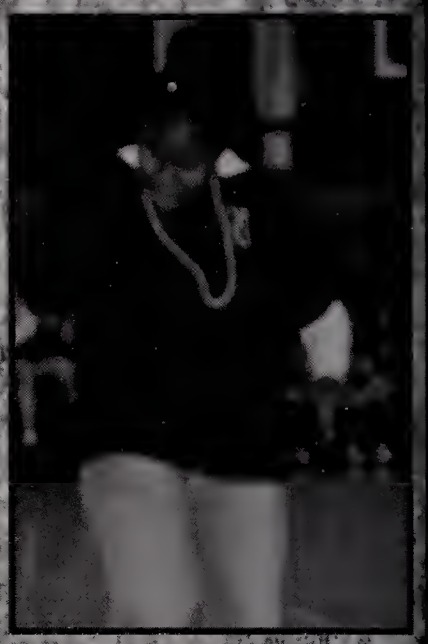
Students Taking Action to Initiate Change



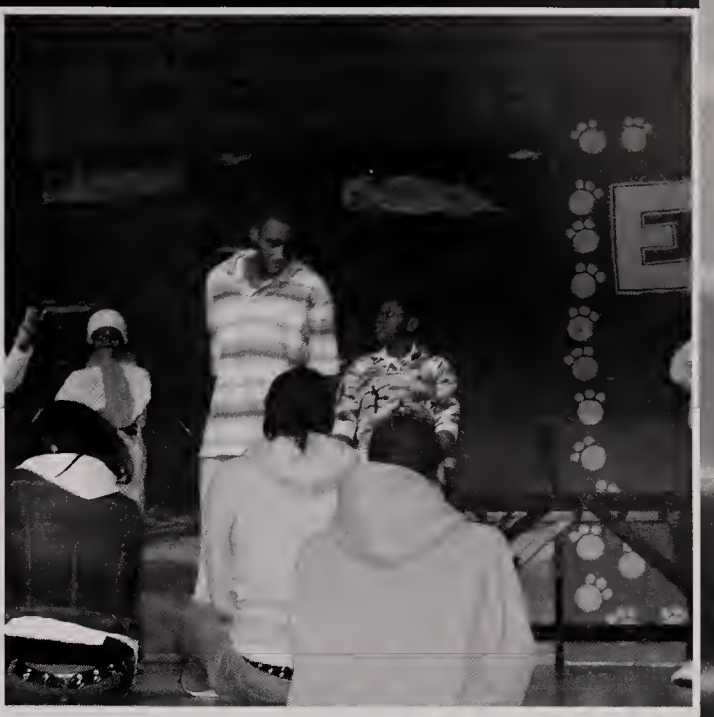
This year, STATIC helped out "The Bread of Life" organization in the Boston area that provides food to the underprivledged.

Step Team

Like Lil' Phunk, the dance team that performs during the Celtics games, the Pope John Step Team entertained the School during a pep rally.



Umoja



Umoja studied the culture and practices of Africa such that they might be more aware of the world around them.

Umoja was a student organization that promoted and celebrated the importance of African American culture. They strove to increase understanding and elimate hate among all people. The main mission of the group was to promote unity for all races and ethnicities.

In the Boston Massacre, a prelude to the American Revolution, Crispus Attucks (a runaway slave) was killed by the British soldiers. He is considered the first martyr of the American Revolution.

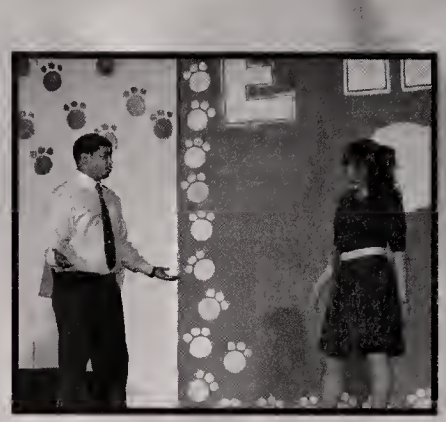
In the Spring of 2007 Pope John Drama mounted one of its largestproductions to date: High School Musical. The show not only packed in larger crowds than the Opera House, but was also Director Kelli Gaynor's final production at Pope John.



Drama Club

Oh the Thinks You Can Think!

This year, the Drama Club mounted one of it's most energetic and poetic productions, Seussical the Musical! Under the direction of Ms. Higgins, the Drama Club was able to create an entire "Seuss-like" Universe, complete with famous Seuss Characters: Horton the Elephant, The Grinch, and of course, The Cat in the Hat!

The pictures themselves speak of the great times shared between the juniors and seniors of Prom 2007. It was incredible to witness people all dressed to impress -- quite a change from the normal apparel. The hours we labored to look fabulous -- we did went to waste as we danced the night away into memory and sweated most of the make-up from our faces. Pope John Prom lived up to the impeccable reputation of prom as a night of legend, the climax of high school experience. The night was truly one to remember.
